Weiming Yuan Workshop

July 19–22, 2007

Macalester College

St. Paul, Minnesota

Great River T'ai Chi Ch'uan welcomes back Weiming Yuan for his tenth summer workshop in the Twin Cities.

Weiming is a senior student of Mr Liu Hsi-heng's in Taipei. He is a regular teacher at the Shih Chung T'ai Chi Ch'uan Association and is a professor of architecture at Tunghai University. Weiming is a gifted teacher who gives great attention to detail, with a focus on principles and body mechanics. Weiming's classes are always packed with new ideas, good practice, deeper exploration of t'ai chi and the pleasure of camaraderie. Saturday evening we'll enjoy a picnic dinner together, sponsored by Great River students.

Travel and Accommodations: Out-of-town attendees can stay in air-conditioned Macalester dorm rooms at a reasonable price (a limited amount of home hospitality can be arranged). Attendees can enjoy the many restaurants and coffeeshops of the neighborhood, walks on Summit Avenue, and the nearby Mississippi River. The campus is convenient to I-94 freeway, Twin Cities International airport, Amtrak train, and Greyhound bus, and is on several city bus lines (#84 bus connects to light rail to airport). Tourism information can be found at www.exploreminnesota.com. July weather is often hot and dry, but it can also be rainy or cool.
